Divurgent, Modern Healthcare's 2012 Best Places to Work

Virginia Beach, VA. July 28th, 2012 – Divurgent is honored to be recognized as one of Modern Healthcare's 2012 Best Places to Work in Healthcare. In its fifth year, the recognition program acknowledges outstanding employers in the healthcare industry on a national level.

"We couldn't have achieved such a high recognition without the support and loyalty of the Divurgent Team," Colin Konschak a Managing Partner at Divurgent, says. "We are truly humbled by this award and grateful to have such a fantastic group of people working with us."

Divurgent is a place rich in culture and values. We recognize our team members are the driving force behind our success, and we continually look for opportunities to enhance their unique talents and empower their passions. "Being a part of Divurgent has been an amazing experience. They truly care individually about each team member. Going above and beyond to support in the work arena is standard operating procedure, but Divurgent takes it beyond the standard to ensure the hectic pace and demands of work do not overshadow the importance of homelife, rest, recreation and rejuvenation," comments Noell Snider, Divurgent Consultant.

"We founded Divurgent with the goal of transforming healthcare. We want our passion and culture to resonate with our team, clients and the communities in which they serve," states Philip Felt, a Managing Partner at Divurgent.

Without our team and our passion to change healthcare, we would not be able to have achieved such a tremendous goal, as being one of Modern Healthcare's 2012 Best Places to work!

About Divurgent

Divurgent is not the typical healthcare consulting firm. As a nationally recognized company, we strive to be different, to think outside of the box for innovative healthcare solutions. Our goal is simple. To transform healthcare to our clients and the communities they serve.

Focused on the business of hospitals, health systems and affiliated providers, Divurgent believes successful outcomes are derived from powerful partnerships. Recognizing the unique culture that every organization offers, we leverage the depth of our experienced consulting team to create customized solutions that best meet our client's goals. Utilizing best practices and methodologies we help improve our client's operational effectiveness, financial performance and quality of patient care.
